

GERMAN BLITZ TROOPS CAPTURE SALONIKA

Trapped East Wing of Greek Army Reported Surrendering

AEGEAN KINGDOM IS CUT IN TWO BY TWIN THRUST OF INVADERS

Adolf Hitler's blitzkrieg armies swept through the Balkans like a tornado today, and some military observers said the end of the four-day-old conflict was almost in sight.

Striking with tempestuous fury, the Germans captured the Aegean seaport of Salonika, forced the surrender of the trapped east wing of the Greek army, estimated at 300,000 men before hostilities began, and drove westward across Yugoslavia to within 15 miles of a junction with Italian troops in Albania.

The toll in German slain and wounded was said to be enormous. From now on, it was evident that the Yugoslavs would have to fight alone—cut off from their British-Greek allies. The German line strung across most of southern Serbia.

The next and perhaps all-decisive phase of the battle was forecast when the Germans attempt to storm the fortified positions of the Greek and British forces southwest of Salonika.

German army headquarters said the trapped Greeks—the east wing manning the Struma river line, cut off from communication with the rest of the Aegean kingdom by a lightning Nazi thrust—had asked for terms.

Simultaneously, the Rome and Berlin radios declared that the scheduled sailings of British transports in Piraeus, Port of Athens, had been cancelled.

The radios said Greek military circles considered the order a precautionary measure, for re-embarkation of British troops. This, presumably, would mean a "Balkan Dunkerque" for the British.

The Yugoslav high command, noting that "enormous losses" had been inflicted on the Germans, announced that Belgrade, the bomb-smashed Yugoslav capital which was declared an open city before the Nazi invasion, had been virtually destroyed. "Its streets filled with the bodies of dead women, children and old men."

In Greece, powerful British forces were still waiting to go into action against the Nazi steamroller, amid considerable mystery as to their inactivity.

A British military spokesman in Athens, ignoring German invitations to "come out and fight," declared:

"We have no indication that our troops have yet established contact with the enemy, nor is there any indication when that contact will be effected."

The British were said to be holding a second defense line southwest of Salonika.

As the 4-day-old battle of the Balkans rapidly assumed the aspect of an Allied debacle, a Nazi spokesman in Berlin declared that the state of Serbia, in southern Yugoslavia, was already "tottering."

More than 20,000 Yugoslav prisoners, including several generals, were reported captured.

Greek troops were said to have withdrawn from Salonika before the Germans arrived.

Berlin reported that Nazi blitz forces had stabbed more than half way through the "waist" of Yugoslavia, and a Yugoslav general headquarters communique, issued in Athens, admitted the abandonment of the key rail city of Skopje, at the head of the Vardar valley, on the Belgrade-Salonika railway.

Skopje is 55 miles from the Bulgarian frontier, where Hitler started his panzer divisions rolling Sunday.

Following down the Vardar valley, the swift-striding Germans in effect duplicated the historic Nazi breakthrough at Sedan on the Western front last May, a coup which split the Allied armies, led (Turn to Page Thirteen)

CHIEF SEAPORT OF ERITREA IN BRITISH HANDS

Cairo, Egypt, April 9.—(P)—British troops have occupied Massawa, chief seaport of Eritrea, virtually completing their conquest of Italian East Africa, the Middle East Command announced today.

The Fascist defenders of the Red seaport capitulated yesterday, a war bulletin said, and the imperial forces quickly moved in.

With the fall of Massawa, the Italians have been routed from all their main bases along the Red sea and Indian ocean coasts and the capitals of Mussolini's three East African colonies are in British hands. They are Addis Ababa, Ethiopia; Asmara, Eritrea; and Mogadiscio, Italian Somaliland.

In addition, the British have recaptured Berbera, capital of British Somaliland, which the Italians had seized early in the African war.

Today's communique said that pursuit of retreating Italian forces into custody then and questioned.

$154,000,000 RELIEF BILL IS PLAN OF DEMOS

BULLETIN

Harrisburg, April 9.—(P)—The Senate today passed by a vote of 33 to 15 a bill to cut the waiting period for unemployment compensation benefits, boost the payments and create a state advisory council to pass on administrative and policy matters. The measure was sent to the House.

Harrisburg, April 9.—(P)—Democrats in the legislature plan to introduce bills appropriating $154,000,000 for relief for the next two years despite Governor James' recommendation that $131,000,000 would be enough, it was learned today.

Harry Shapiro (D-Phil), Democratic floor leader in the Senate, said "we'll have to provide $154,000,000 without a doubt." The measure will be offered in the House, he said.

The commonwealth is spending $215,000,000 in this biennium for all forms of relief. Governor James, in offering his $131,000,000 relief budget, said business had so improved that the reduction was justified.

Major Fortresses In Balkans Lost By Allies In Four Days

Bern, Switzerland, April 9.—(P)—Britain and her Greek and Yugoslav Allies appeared tonight to have lost in four days their major defenses in the Balkans.

Salonika, great natural fortress of the Aegean throughout history, fell to the Nazis today.

Greece's eastern army, estimated to number 300,000 before hostilities began, surrendered en masse.

The German blitzkrieg armies fighting westward over mountain terrain were within 15 miles of a junction with the Italian forces in Albania.

Nis and Skopje, vital Yugoslav military and railway centers, were in German hands.

To some observers these facts signified that the Balkan war might be almost over, although it still was not known how well Britain and Greece have prepared other positions to which they were retreating tonight.

It was almost certain, however, that Yugoslavia from now on is fighting on her own unless she can break through the German line strung out across southern Serbia, dividing her from the British and Greeks.

ROME REQUESTS RECALL OF U. S. ATTACHE THERE

Washington, April 9.—(P)—Italy today demanded the recall of the American assistant military attache in Rome in apparent reprisal for the action of the United States in forcing the withdrawal of the Italian naval attache from this country.

The State Department announced that the Italian government had made the request for the withdrawal of Captain William C. Bentley in the same note in which it complied with the American request for withdrawal of Admiral Alberto Lais, the Italian naval attache here.

The text of the State Department announcement:

"By note of April 3, 1941, the secretary of state notified the Royal Italian ambassador that Admiral Alberto Lais, naval attache of the Royal Italian embassy, was persona non grata to this government and requested that the Royal Italian government withdraw him immediately from the United States."

"The secretary of state has now been informed by the Royal Italian ambassador in a note dated April 8, that Admiral Lais had ceased from his functions and will leave (Turn to Page Eleven)

Quick Agreement for Re-opening the Ford Motor Company's Strike-Closed Rouge Plant, Restoring Flow of Materials to Branches of the Far-Flung Industrial Network, is Urged on Company and Union Officials

JOINT CONFERENCES ARE RESUMED TODAY

BULLETIN

New York, April 9.—(P)—Dr. John R. Steelman, chief federal conciliator, announced today that agreement on a wage dispute between labor and management in the soft coal industry had been reached sufficiently "to assure the country that there will be no danger of a coal shortage."

Quick agreement for reopening the Ford Motor Company's strike-closed Rouge plant, restoring a flow of materials to branches of the far-flung Ford industrial network, was urged on company and union officials today by federal and state conciliators who hoped for action before a labor department deadline.

Governor Murray D. Van Wageningen of Michigan said last night that Secretary of Labor Perkins had set a time limit of "24 or 48 hours—I'm not such"—for further negotiations, before he would certify the week-old dispute to the defense mediation board.

Two unprecedented joint conferences, bringing high union leaders and Ford officials together for the first time in Ford Company history, brought only an announcement that they are "definitely making progress" and that the situation "looks better than it did yesterday morning."

After the second meeting, an eight-hour session that concluded about 2 a. m. today, Van Wageningen commented with a very smile that Secretary Perkins' time limit "isn't up yet."

The strike was formally called a week ago after the United Automobile Workers (CIO) charged that the Ford Company discharged eight union committeemen, UAW-CIO leaders listed demands for a contract, a ten-cent hourly wage increase, and substitution of union protection employees for the Ford service department.

Van Wageningen appealed to President Roosevelt late yesterday to forestall certification of the dispute to the mediation board.

DEFENSE CHIEFS DETERMINED TO SPEED UP WORK

Washington, April 9.—(P)—Defense chiefs are expected today to put pressure for speed and more speed in preparing America's defenses after word from President Roosevelt that there still is room for an awful lot of improvement.

Although the production has been greatly accelerated in recent months, Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference yesterday that he still is not satisfied with its progress.

Asked how it could be speeded up, he laughed and replied that could be done by using chestnut burrs just as they have been used to inspire a mile.

Questioned as to why the program was going along too slowly, he said there were thousands of reasons — individuals, mostly human beings.

A few hours later Vice President Wallace, speaking to the Foreign Policy Association in New York, asserted that "only defecation on the psychological and economic fronts in the United States" could prevent a British victory over Germany.

MERCY SLAYING NEAR SUNBURY IS INVESTIGATED

Sunbury, April 9.—(P)—District Attorney Robert Fortney said today he would file a formal charge of murder against John Hogenbaber, 50-year-old farmer held in the shooting of his ailing wife, Clara, 47, at the couple's lower August township farm yesterday.

Hogenbaber, according to Fortney, said he shot his wife through the head with a .22 caliber rifle "to put her out of her misery x x because she had the asthma and was sick." The Northumberland county district attorney added he had not asked the farmer to sign a statement admitting the killing because "I don't think he is mentally able to make such a statement."

Fortney said the murder charge would be filed this afternoon before Alderman Clyde M. Smith of Sunbury, and added he would ask the court to appoint doctors to examine Hogenbaber on Monday.

After questioning the farmer most of the night, Fortney said he had reconstructed the following story:

INVASION ANNIVERSARY

By The Associated Press

A year ago today, Nazi troops occupied Denmark and invaded Norway in a lightning move to which this week's invasion of Yugoslavia and Greece, ending nine months of stalemate in Europe, bears a striking parallel.

The Denmark-Norway drive proved to be a great stroke to safeguard Germany's flank for the attack on France through the low countries a month later.

The Yugoslavia-Greece drive today could be a similar feint to safeguard the German flank for an attack on Turkey, with the Suez canal and Egypt as the ultimate objective.

Then, as now, Germany engaged two adversaries at once on their soil with Britain coming in also as an antagonist.

Then, as now, Germany charged Britain with "impairing the neutrality" of the countries invaded.

The Scandinavian-Balkan parallel narrowly missed being coincidental. Denmark capitulated; Yugoslavia was on the verge until an internal coup d'etat last month ousted the men who favored giving in to Germany. Norway fought; Greece is fighting.

One major difference between the Scandinavian and the Balkan campaigns is in the British position.

The British had no troops in Norway when a startled world learned Germany had seized Denmark and broken the back of resistance in Norway. Today, British troops estimated at 75,000 to 200,000, or more, are in Greece.

In the North Sea, the British navy was open to air, surface and submarine attacks from nearby German bases and suffered. Now, the Germans have a powerful air force in the Mediterranean area, but the Italian navy on which the Nazis might have counted to replace the German navy at far-off bases has been hit so hard the British minimize its power.

Militarily, Germany has taken on considerably more powerful nations than she did a year ago. Norway and Denmark together had armies totaling only around 250,000 men and air forces that might have totaled 300-400 planes.

Yugoslavia has an army estimated at 700,000 effective to 1,200,000 or more with reserves, and has an air force of 600 to 800 planes, some obsolete.

Greece's army is estimated at 600,000 men, although she undoubtedly has suffered losses in fighting with Italy in Greece and Albania. Her air force has been estimated at 125 planes.

The British land and air forces augment these figures, but their number has not been disclosed. The highest total mentioned has been 300,000 men.

Twenty-Two Selective Service Men Ready To Leave Thursday for Induction in Army

Future Soldiers Are Guests of Honor at Farewell Dinner Given Tuesday Evening Under Auspices of Citizens' Committee

CHOOSING NEW GROUP

With 22 Warren county men all set to leave tomorrow morning for Pittsburgh, where they will be inducted into the U. S. Army for a year's training under the Selective Service system, the two local draft boards this morning announced the names of seven additional men who have been ordered to report next Monday, April 15.

Those who will leave next week will include the regular quota of three each from the two boards and one replacement being sent by Local Board No. 1. The latter was to have reported yesterday, but it was decided yesterday that he would report with the April 14 contingent.

The replacement, who fills a vacancy in the March 29 quota of Board No. 1, caused by a rejection is Harold Powers, of 617 Conewango avenue, a volunteer with order number 971.

The three in the regular quota of Local Board No. 1, all draftees, are: Bernard Ackert, 209 Dobson avenue, No. 258; William Walker, 519 Conewango avenue, No. 269; Wardman Collins, 531 Fourth avenue, No. 271.

BAPTIST PASTOR IS SPEAKER AT MIDDAY SERVICE

The third in the series of noon-day Holy Week services, held today at Trinity Memorial Episcopal church, attracted another large congregation as the Rev. J. A. Davidson, pastor of the First Baptist church, spoke on "The Day of Retirement."

With the Rev. E. P. Wroth, rector of Trinity church, presiding, the service opened with the hymn, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say," followed by the invocation. The Rev. J. C. Bengtson, pastor of Bethlehem Congregational church, read the scripture and prayer was offered by the Rev. Martin Hamlin, of Calvary Baptist church.

Merritt Young sang as his solo, "There is a Green Hill Far Away" by Gounod.

In his sermon, Rev. Davidson called attention to Christ's ability to go to some place where he was alone and spend his time in meditation. This ability to meditate alone, he said, has been common among many of the great leaders of history.

Power, peace and joy, said the speaker, come from the sense of calm and quiet.

RUSSIA IS NEXT SAYS CHURCHILL

Prime Minister in a War Report to the House of Commons Speaks of Grave Extent of Germany's Smashing Advance Through Greece and Yugoslavia and Warns Soviet Drive is Heading Their Way

APPEALS ANEW FOR USE OF IRISH PORT

London, April 9.—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill told Britain today the grave extent of Germany's smashing advance through Greece today and warned Soviet Russia the Nazi drive was heading her way.

In a war report to the House of Commons Churchill announced the Nazi troops had entered Salonika at 4 a. m.

"Up to the present the British and Imperial troops have not been engaged" in the fighting in Greece, he said.

He refused to give any indication of what would be done with these troops in the "widespread battle."

The prime minister declared there were increasing signs that Germany would push on to the wharves of Russia's Ukraine.

He appealed anew for use of Irish ports and airfields to guard Britain's northwest approaches, and told France she would be strictly blockaded and that British guns would resist any attempt on the part of the Vichy government to transfer the French navy from Africa to metropolitan France where Hitler could get it.

He reported that the British air force had grown to such an extent that some of the raids on Germany had been in "severe" anything the Germans had done in any single raid on England.

Churchill said that before the battle of Greece Gen. Sir John G. Dill, Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell and Greek General Alexandros Papagos advised their governments that "a sound military plan giving a good prospect of success could be made."

He added it remains to be seen how well these opposing risks and duties have been judged, but I am sure there is no less likely way of winning the war than to adhere pedantically to the maxim of safety first."

He forecast "hard and severe fighting" against the German armored column in North Africa and disclosed that the capture of Keren in Eritrea cost Britain 4,000 casualties.

Churchill checked the chamber into complete silence with his announcement of the German entry into Salonika. He drew cheer after cheer with disclosure of the capture of Massawa and increasing United States aid.

STRIKES SCORED BY MISS PERKINS

Washington, April 9.—(P)—Secretary of Labor Perkins expressed the opinion today that jurisdiction strikes are "most unfortunate at any time" and in defense industry are "not justified."

She made this assertion in response to questions by members of the House military committee during the committee's investigation of the defense program.

Defining jurisdictional strikes as those occurring between two unions within one labor organization, she said there were few strikes resulting from conflict between the Congress of Industrial Organizations and the American Federation of Labor, and that these could be readily settled through machinery of the National Labor Relations Board.

SEN. SHEPPARD IS DEAD AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Dean of Congress in Point of Service and Sponsor of the National Prohibition Amendment Succumbs from Slow Hemorrhage Early Today

A MEMBER 38 YEARS

Washington, April 9.—(P)—Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, dean of congress in point of service and sponsor of the national prohibition amendment, died today. He would have been 66 next month.
Expressing "sincere sorrow" at his death, President Roosevelt described him as "a tower of strength" in the work of national defense.
Dr. George W. Calver, capitol physician, said death resulted from a slow hemorrhage into the brain at 5 a. m.
Senator Sheppard suffered an intra-cranial hemorrhage April 4, following several weeks of overwork. He became unconscious later that day, but remained at home in care of his physician until Sunday, when he was taken to Walter Reed Hospital.
As chairman of the senate military affairs committee, Sheppard was in charge of much important legislation in connection with the defense program. This included the selective service act, the nation's first compulsory peacetime military training law. He also was (Turn to Page Thirteen)

CHOOSING NEW GROUP

With 22 Warren county men all set to leave tomorrow morning for Pittsburgh, where they will be inducted into the U. S. Army for a year's training under the Selective Service system, the two local draft boards this morning announced the names of seven additional men who have been ordered to report next Monday, April 14.
Those who will leave next week will include the regular quota of three each from the two boards and one replacement being sent by Local Board No. 1. The latter was to have reported tomorrow, but it was decided yesterday that he would report with the April 14 contingent.
The replacement, who fills a vacancy in the March 29 quota of Board No. 1 caused by a rejection, is Harold Powers, of 617 Conewango avenue, a volunteer with order number 97.
The three in the regular quota of Local Board No. 1, all draftees, are: Bernard Ackert, 209 Dobson avenue, No. 258; William Walker, 519 Conewango avenue, No. 269; Wardman Collins, 831 Fourth avenue, No. 271.

BAPTIST PASTOR IS SPEAKER AT MIDDAY SERVICE

The third in the series of noon-day Holy Week services, held today at Trinity Memorial Episcopal church, attracted another large congregation as the Rev. J. A. Davidson, pastor of the First Baptist church, spoke on "The Day of Rejoicing."
With the Rev. E. P. Wroth, rector of Trinity church, presiding, the service opened with the hymn, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say," followed by the invocation. The Rev. J. C. Bengtson, pastor of Bethlehem Congregational church, read the scripture and prayer was offered by the Rev. Martin Hamlin, of Calvary Baptist church.
Merritt Young sang as his solo, "There is a Green Hill Far Away" by Gounod.
In his sermon, Rev. Davidson called attention to Christ's ability to go to some place where he was alone and spend his time in meditation. This ability to meditate alone, he said, has been common among many of the great leaders of history.
Power, peace and joy, said the speaker, come from the sense of calm and quiet.

FIND BODIES OF TWO NAVY FLIERS

Norfolk, Va., April 9.—(P)—The navy dragged coastal waters off the Virginia eastern shore today for the wreckage of a PB-1 patrol plane which smashed into the sea with its crew of two officers and eight enlisted men Monday on a transfer flight from the Norfolk air station to the Quonset Point, R. I. base.
Bodies of two of the crew were picked up yesterday from the wreckage-dotted surface of the sea two miles east of Great Machipongo inlet, 50 miles north of this port. The navy said one was that of P. F. Mueller, chief photographer, San Diego, Calif. The other was not identified immediately.
A destroyer put down a buoy where the plane apparently sank in from 25 to 30 feet of water, and salvage craft from the Norfolk (Turn to Page Eleven)

MERCY SLAYING NEAR SUNBURY IS INVESTIGATED

Sunbury, April 9.—(P)—District Attorney Robert Fortney said today he would file a formal charge of murder against John Hogen-dobler, 50-year-old farmer held in the shooting of his ailing wife, Clara, 47, at the couple's lower August township farm yesterday.
Hogendobler, according to Fortney, said he shot his wife through the head with a .22 caliber rifle "to put her out of her misery x x because she had the asthma and was sick." The Northumberland county district attorney added he had not asked the farmer to sign a statement admitting the killing because "I don't think he is mentally able to make such a statement."
Fortney said the murder charge would be filed this afternoon before Alderman Clyde M. Smith of Sunbury, and added he would ask the court to appoint doctors to examine Hogendobler on Monday.
After questioning the farmer most of the night, Fortney said he had reconstructed the following story:
Hogendobler and his wife had been working on their farm (Turn to Page Thirteen)

IRRITATION IN ROME IS RISING

Rome, April 9.—(P)—Italian troops continued to stand guard over the United States embassy today as rumors circulated that Premier Mussolini might recall his ambassador to Washington because of the "sequestration" of Italian ships in American ports.
Amid indications of rising Fascist irritation, an authoritative source declared that the Italian government had withdrawn Admiral Alberto Lais, naval attache at the embassy in Washington, under protest that the U. S. action was unfriendly and illegal.
Recall of the Italian ambassador, it was pointed out in diplomatic circles, would put American relations with Italy on the same (Turn to Page Thirteen)

RUSSIA IS NEXT SAYS CHURCHILL

Prime Minister in a War Report to the House of Commons Speaks of Grave Extent of Germany's Smashing Advance Through Greece and Yugoslavia and Warns Soviet Drive is Heading Their Way

APPEALS ANEW FOR USE OF IRISH PORT

London, April 9.—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill told Britain today the grave extent of Germany's smashing advance through Greece and Yugoslavia and warned Soviet Russia the Nazi drive was heading her way.
In a war report to the House of Commons Churchill announced the Nazi troops had entered Salonika at 4 a. m.
"Up to the present the British and Imperial troops have not been engaged" in the fighting in Greece, he said.
He refused to give any indication of what would be done with these troops in the "widespread battle."
The prime minister declared there were increasing signs that Germany would pounce on the wharves of Russia's Ukraine.
He appealed anew for use of Irish ports and airfields to guard Britain's northwest approaches, and told France she would be strictly blockaded and that British guns would resist any attempt on the part of the Vichy government to transfer the French navy from Africa to metropolitan France where Hitler could get it.
He reported that the British air force had grown to such an extent that some of the raids on Germany had "exceeded in severity" anything the Germans had done in any single raid on England.
Churchill said that before the battle of Greece Gen. Sir John G. Dill, Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell and Greek General Alexandros Papagos advised their governments that "a sound military plan giving a good prospect of success could be made."
He added "it remains to be seen how well these opposing risks and duties have been judged, but I am sure there is no less likely way of winning the war than to adhere pedantically to the maxim of safety first."
He forecast "hard and severe fighting" against the German armored column in North Africa and disclosed that the capture of Keren in Eritrea cost Britain 4,000 casualties.
Churchill shocked the chamber into complete silence with his announcement of the German entry into Salonika. He drew cheer after cheer with disclosure of the capture of Massaua and increasing United States aid.
A dramatic moment came, however, when near the end of his speech he turned to the right and looked at the diplomatic gallery where Ivan Maisky, Soviet ambassador, sat.

STRIKES SCORED BY MISS PERKINS

Washington, April 9.—(P)—Secretary of Labor Perkins expressed the opinion today that jurisdiction strikes are "most unfortunate at any time" and in defense industry are "not justified."
She made this assertion in response to questions by members of the House military committee during the committee's investigation of the defense program.
Defining jurisdictional strikes as those occurring between two unions within one labor organization, she said there were few strikes resulting from conflict between the Congress of Industrial Organizations and the American Federation of Labor, and that these could be readily settled through machinery of the National Labor Relations Board.

Seventeen forest and grass fires were reported in the Compianter Forest District yesterday, including ten in the vicinity of Warren, it was reported today by William H. Smith, district forester for the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters.

As a result of the large number of fires reported, Mr. Smith today urged special caution to cut down the fire rate.

"All of the fires that occurred could have been prevented if the persons responsible had used forethought," Mr. Smith said today. "Every year fires are started before the people realize the spring forest fire season has arrived."

"The spring fire season is here and if all the people in the vicinity realize this fact, I believe we can eliminate all of these grass and forest fires that occur in the vicinity of Warren."

"If persons who have rubbish or debris to burn will take the office of the Department of Forests and Waters, Warren 1271, before starting to burn, we will be glad to give them information concerning the advisability of burning."

"There is a state law that makes it unlawful to do any kind of burning at all on oil and gas territory from April 1st to May 20th. We intend to enforce this law."

"We appreciate the assistance of all townspeople in the prompt reporting of fires that occur and sincerely hope everyone will be more careful and keep our forests and fields green."

OBITUARY

MRS. MARY FISHER
The following from the March 13th issue of a Daytona Beach Fla. paper, will be read with interest by older residents of the community:

Death today ended the career of a woman who brought many spots of happiness into the lives of countless individuals.

She was Mrs. Mary Fisher, 74, known to Daytona Beach as "the flower woman," who used to be found almost any day selling her gay blossoms on S Beach St. near the Kresge store.

Eight days ago a neighbor found Mrs. Fisher in her 127 Arlington Ave. home, seriously ill. The "flower woman" had not taken up her usual street stand that day and an investigation led to the discovery of her condition.

She was taken to a local hospital but throughout the eight days she was given only a slight chance of living.

She died about 5 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Fisher had been a resident of Daytona Beach about 30 years. She came to this city from Warren, Pa.

Funeral arrangements, in charge of Haigh and Brooks, are being "held up" pending the arrival of relatives.

MRS. FRANK ALIBOZER
Elizabeth Alibozek, wife of Frank Alibozek, of Youngsville, passed away at the Warren General Hospital at 3:15 o'clock this morning, following a short illness.

Besides her husband, she leaves seven children: Anna, Mary and Pauline Eodnar, Elizabeth Alibozek, John and Andy Bednar, of Youngsville; Mrs. Margaret Plath, Custer City; also two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at eleven o'clock Saturday morning in St. Joseph's church here, followed by interment in St. Joseph's cemetery.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARY FISHER

The following from the March 13th issue of a Daytona Beach, Fla., paper, will be read with interest by older residents of the community:

Death today ended the career of a woman who brought many spots of happiness into the lives of countless individuals.

She was Mrs. Mary Fisher, 74, known to Daytona Beach as "the flower woman," who used to be found almost any day selling her gay blossoms on S. Beach St. near the Kress store.

Eight days ago a neighbor found Mrs. Fisher in her 127 Arlington Ave. home, seriously ill. The "flower woman" had not taken up her usual street stand that day and an investigation led to the discovery of her condition.

She was taken to a local hospital but throughout the eight days she was given only a slight chance of living.

She died about 3 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Fisher had been a resident of Daytona Beach about 30 years. She came to this city from Warren, Pa.

Funeral arrangements, in charge of Haigh and Brooks, are being held up pending the arrival of relatives.

MRS. FRANK ALIBOZEK

Elizabeth Alibozek, wife of Frank Alibozek, of Youngsville, passed away at the Warren General Hospital at 3:15 o'clock this morning, following a short illness.

Besides her husband, she leaves seven children, Anna, Mary and Pauline Bednar, Elizabeth Alibozek, John and Andy Bednar, of Youngsville; Mrs. Margaret Plutko, Custer City; also two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at eleven o'clock Saturday morning in St. Joseph's church here, followed by interment in St. Joseph's cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Florence Hitchcock wish to thank all friends and neighbors for their kindness, floral offerings and use of cars in their recent bereavement.

Twenty thousand names of prospective gold miners were turned in to the Census Bureau when all assayers were requested to submit names of gold miners who had turned in "pay dirt" in 1939. The Census Bureau, investigating these for the census of the gold mining industry, found that many of them average less than $10 per week from their discoveries.

Out of total annual deaths of 1-387,897 reported by the Census Bureau, 360,634 were from diseases of the heart.

period may have door cards by calling at the Chamber of Commerce office, third floor, Warren Bank and Trust building, it was announced.

H. B. Pettit, vice chairman of the retail merchants' bureau, presided at this morning's meeting.

RESIDENTS OF COUNTY RECEIVE EASTER SEALS

Deeds of friends throughout the county have found in their own homes the past week a small token of the Warren County Crippled Children's Committee asking for support for its first annual Easter seal sale being conducted between now and April 13.

Organizations cooperating in the work of the committee are the Warren County Medical Society, the Warren General Hospital, the Kiwanis, Lions and Rotary clubs, the Warren County Children's Aid Society and the Warren County Visiting Nursing Association.

It has not been necessary to make a public appeal for funds locally in past years. This year is the eighth annual sale in the county.

The committee benefited each year through the membership enrollment of the Warren County Chapter, American Red Cross. Since this assistance was withdrawn recently, the committee has been faced with the necessity of raising funds in some other manner so that the many who have been receiving its help may not suffer and that the program may be extended to new cases.

Officers of the committee are: Horace A. Clary, Mrs. W. Floyd Clinger, Mrs. George L. Craft, Rev. E. Pinkney Wroth, Dr. E. S. Briggs, Dr. A. Follmer Yerg and Homer M. Mohr, with Mrs. Maasz as nurse.

HOLY WEEK, 1941

(Written for NEA Service and the Times-Mirror)
As if to underline a contrast Hitler chose Holy Week to launch his assault on two more countries. On the very Palm Sunday which marks the day when the Prince of Peace entered Jerusalem riding humbly on the humblest of beasts of burden, Hitler's armed men rode across the borders of Yugoslavia and Greece mounted on the most modern of flesh-destroying machines.
During that climactic week when Jesus faced His ordeal, and trod the road to Golgotha, twenty additional millions of people in 1941 are also placed on the road that leads to the place of the skull, face to face with the crucifixion by shell, bomb and fire that is war.
The official Nazi explanation of this sounds very like the words that were spoken by Pharisees in that other Holy Week; they ring hollowly, convince no one. Yugoslavia is invaded because it refused to allow its roads and facilities to be used as an avenue of attack on a friendly neighbor. Greece is invaded because, defending itself from an Italian attack which had not even a Pharisaical justification, it welcomed friendly aid to help fend off that attack.
So a Nazi protestation of peaceful intent goes with the invasions, saying in words like those of the Pharisees, "Had they yielded to our every request, they would not have been invaded; we wished only peace, so long as everything we asked was turned over to us in a peaceful way. But, of course, our polite request for peaceful submergence of the national existence of these people being refused, we have no alternative but war."

Such a choice is no choice; the gunman who sticks you up in the street with a pistol offers you peace under the same circumstances. You have peace if you stand and deliver. If you exercise your God-given right to hold fast to your own, you die.
Let us not forget that what died during the original Holy Week so long ago was again resurrected—that the whole story is one of the triumph of life over death. So it may be that those countries which are being led this Holy Week down to the place of the skull may yet live again.
We have faith that the way of life will yet triumph over the way of death.

NATIONAL DAYLIGHT SAVING

Among the towns in the section that recently have adopted fast time for the coming summer are Franklin and Tionesta. Incidentally the city council at Titusville Monday evening considered the question at some length but took no action.
Since Warren will be on fast time in three weeks, it is interesting to note that the Merchants association of New York City has proposed that congress should enact a national daylight saving law. It is pointed out that Great Britain, Canada, Germany, France and Italy all have adopted this time system.

GUARDSMEN ARE PLEASED

Those Company I boys who came to Warren today with two trucks in which to transport to Indiantown Gap furnishings for their recreation hall expressed gratitude to the good citizens of Warren who made it possible for them to secure a piano, pool table, easy chairs, card tables and chairs, davenport, phonographs, ash trays, magazines, etc. Most of the articles were donated, but a number of the chairs were purchased. Through the Moose club a pool table was secured at a very nominal figure and a piano was donated. The purchases just used up the balance in the special fund that was raised for the Company at the time of mobilization. Our thanks to all who aided in this worthy project.

Some person is always trying to take the joy out of life, as for instance, the gloom-builder who predicts that the present nice weather is too good to last over Easter.

The news from the Balkans today is far from encouraging. Perhaps it will be different when the Blitz forces reach the mountains and the narrow valleys.

The zero hour is just around the corner for finishing that Easter shopping.

YOUR NATION'S CAPITOL

Dust Off the Standing Room Only
Sign in Capital as Cherry Blossom Time, Easter, D. A. R.'s Arrive
Washington, April 8.—This is the time of year when Washington stages its annual gamble with the weatherman.
The bet is on the cherry blossoms. If they bloom on April 12, okay, even if they're just in bloom a little bit, but if a sudden cold snap holds back the bud-bursting business, as it did last year—well, the weatherman is a louse.
Bloom or no bloom, the cherry blossom festival begins April 12 when good-looking Nancy Strong, queen of this year's affair, surrounded by her escort of comelies, all done up in her traditional hand-made down nighties of spring beauties embark on a flower-bedded barge to cross the cherry tree-bordered Tidal Basin, just southwest of the Washington monument.
Arrived safely at the other side—it's about a half mile across—they debark and the queen receives a crown from the hands of this year's queen-making politician, Senator John H. Overton of Alexandria, La. If it's cold the lovelies will wear fur coats, and if the cherry blossoms are not out that's just their hard luck.
The toughest part of Queen Nancy's job is that for the past three weeks she has had to make periodic visits to the Tidal Basin to see how the buds were coming along. Then, regardless of what the thermometer and wind meter have said, Nancy has had to strip off her fur coat, perch gracefully on a low branch of a cherry tree so the photographers could take pictures of limbs—the cherry tree's and Nancy's.
The coronation ceremony is repeated Sunday, April 13, but then on the attraction is entirely cherry blossoms. From the day the trees start showing their stuff, for 10 days or two weeks the best advice anyone can be given is to come to Washington only if you have made all arrangements as to where you'll lay your head at night unless you wish to come in a trailer or bring a pup tent.
As if the cherry blossoms and the defense effort weren't enough, the Daughters of the American Revolution will descend on the town, 5000 to 6000 strong at the least. Add to that the convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors and the annual meeting of the Southern Society of Philosophy and Psychology. Then consider that it's Easter week, and that on this Easter Sunday the first service is being held by the presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church at the new altar in the National Cathedral.
Adding to the crowding will be conventions of the Red Cross and United States Chamber of Commerce, not to mention the 40,000 children, parents and nursemaids who usually attend the egg rolling on the White House lawn the Monday after Easter.
Easter week, too, brings an anti- (Turn to Page Fourteen)

STORIES IN STAMPS

RUINS OF CHICHEN-ITZA REVEAL MAYAN GOLDEN AGE

THE ruins of Chichen-Itza, citadel of ancient Maya culture, are known to philatelists through Mexico's 1938 stamp picturing an air view of the pyramids. A new view of the famed Thousand Columns is now available in the Pan American Union's poster stamp above, one of a series marking the 51st anniversary of the Union.
Chichen-Itza was founded before the sixth century, abandoned 100 years later and rebuilt about 964. For two centuries the city was a center of Mayan science, art and religion, until the Itzans were conquered by their one-time friends, the Mayapans, aided by Toltec and Aztec allies.
The conquerors built Chichen-Itza to new greatness, constructed the court of a Thousand Columns, new temples, pyramids, surpassing all its previous grandeur. Chichen-Itza remained the Mecca of Mayan world until 1884, when it was finally abandoned.
Men have been lifted far in the air by kites.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON—Capital talk:
Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau has picked his poster for the big baby bond campaign that soon is going to be waged. It's a Minute Man (Daniel Chester French's, I think). Across the poster will be that old fighting motto: "America on Guard."
The pretty Long Island debutante, Sarah Alden Derby, is a secretary in the office of Rep. Joseph Clark Baldwin, 3rd. Miss Derby is one of the Roosevelts—the Republican Roosevelts. She's the granddaughter of President Theodore Roosevelt. Says Miss Derby: "I'm too busy with my career to think about either society or politics."
An Alden Year
YOU can always tell when it's spring in Washington. Days or weeks before it arrives, the powers that be get together and select the queen of the Cherry Blossom Festival. Then they go into a huddle with the chief of the Weather Bureau and select a date, which is wrong about seven times out of ten. The error doesn't matter much because whatever day they pick, be it good weather or bad, attracts more tourists than the hotels can accommodate or the store clerks can serve.
The "queen" this year is 17-year-old Nancy Alden (it seems to be an Alden year) Strong. I would almost bet that neither you nor Nancy can name one of her predecessors. Like the cherry blossoms around the tidal basin, fame is that fleeting.
Capital Sidelight
WASHINGTON is like this: If Vivien Leigh herself had come to town she probably would have got a mention, but nothing like Elaine Elliott, 18-year-old New York girl, got. The reason: Elaine is president of a New York chapter of the "Vivien Leigh Fan Club"—is a dead ringer for Great Britain's contribution to the screen version of Scarlet O'Hara.
She's in Washington trying to get a passport to England so she can "present Miss Leigh with a watch which we have bought from fan club dues." Knowing "fan club" dues, I was a little staggered by the watch, numbered by Miss Elliott's trip to Washington, knocked out completely by her announcement that she was going to England by clipper (if she could get the passport). What revived me was a call from a press agent. Breathlessly, he asked, "Did you hear about Elaine Elliott?" I guess it wasn't a very bright comeback, but I said, "Yeah, but did you hear about the war in the Balkans?" And he said, "Sure, Pal, but don't stop me now to talk about somebody else's pictures."

MUST STAND HOME TEST

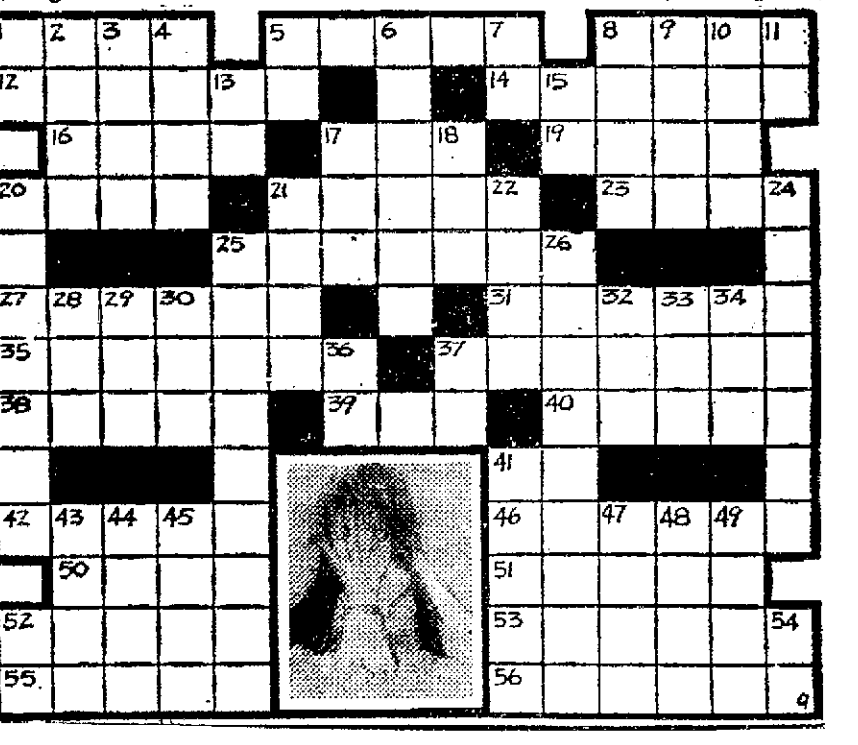

NOSOONER does "Dad" (Claude R.) Wickard, secretary of agriculture, place his whispered approval on some new agricultural product than the "Wickard girls" (Betty and Ann) give it the kitchen test. For example, when "Dad" said within the family circle that he thought a new patent flour, with vitamins and things, might be very good, Ann popped up with biscuits made of same. With that kind of family test hanging over his palate, you can be certain the secretary is not going out on any gastronomical limb with his home testimonials.
Wars may rage on the continents, but the War of Washington at the moment is whether one may drink standing up at the bar or must take it sitting down.

VISITING NURSE IS VERY ACTIVE IN PAST MONTH

Meeting in the city building Tuesday for their monthly business session, members of the Warren Visiting Nursing Association heard the detailed report of the nurse's activities for the month of March and transacted other business.

The report showed that of 37 cases handled, ten were new during the month just ended. Acute and chronic medical cases headed the list with 28; surgical, 3; maternity, 2; new-born, 1; sunshine lamp, 3.

The nurse paid a total of 116 calls, 102 for nursing, 11 for social service and welfare interests, three maternity and new-born visits and four on Sunday. In addition, she gave three sunshine lamp treatments and made 41 office and telephone calls.

This was in addition to assistance at four child health clinics, where a total of 100 children were weighed, measured and examined. There were 45 babies returned to the clinic and 31 children of preschool age. Six new babies were brought in and three of preschool age. Tuxoids were given three children and the nurse made 12 child welfare home visits.

Appreciation was expressed by the board for donation of ten layettes by the Rockwell Bible Class.

THE FELLOWSHIP OF PRAYER

Not Always

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 9. "For ye have the poor always with you; but me ye have not always." Read Matt. 26:11-13.

This passage does not belong to commentators; it belongs to poetry, to the impulse of a woman's heart, and to Jesus' loneliness. He would not be always with them—there—in personal presence and since he had asked so little for himself, they should not grieve this one perfumed testament of affection.

Strange how we take so much of what we cherish most for granted; as if it would be always there. We do not mean to refuse the tribute; we only postpone it and in today's absorption forget the warnings of time and change: "Not always, 'Not always.' So we leave our regard for our friends unspoken, gratitude for kindness unexpressed, the deed undone which might have made fellowship fragrant and memory a sacrament. We too often save the generous graces which might have meant so much to those we care for till it is too late. Then we open our alabaster boxes and find in them—only regret.

PRAYER. O Lord, Who hast taught us that all our doings without love are nothing worthwhile, give us the grace now to bring our treasures of affection and gratitude to those in whose love and

Stress Good Nutrition As Defense Need

Today nutrition authorities are stressing the need for guarding the national health in carrying on an effective program of defense. In calling attention to the importance of proper food, it is pointed out that a survey has revealed that approximately 45 million of our population are living below the "safety line" of what is considered an adequate diet.

What factors are essential in our foods to assure that the diet fully meets body needs? Protein is necessary to build and repair body tissue. There must be vitamins to promote growth and protect health, and calories to supply heat and energy. Minerals, such as iron, copper, phosphorus and calcium, are needed to build blood, bones and teeth.

Importance of Iron
In considering the minerals needed, medical authorities point to the special importance of iron as a blood builder. It ranks first among the nutritive elements in this respect.

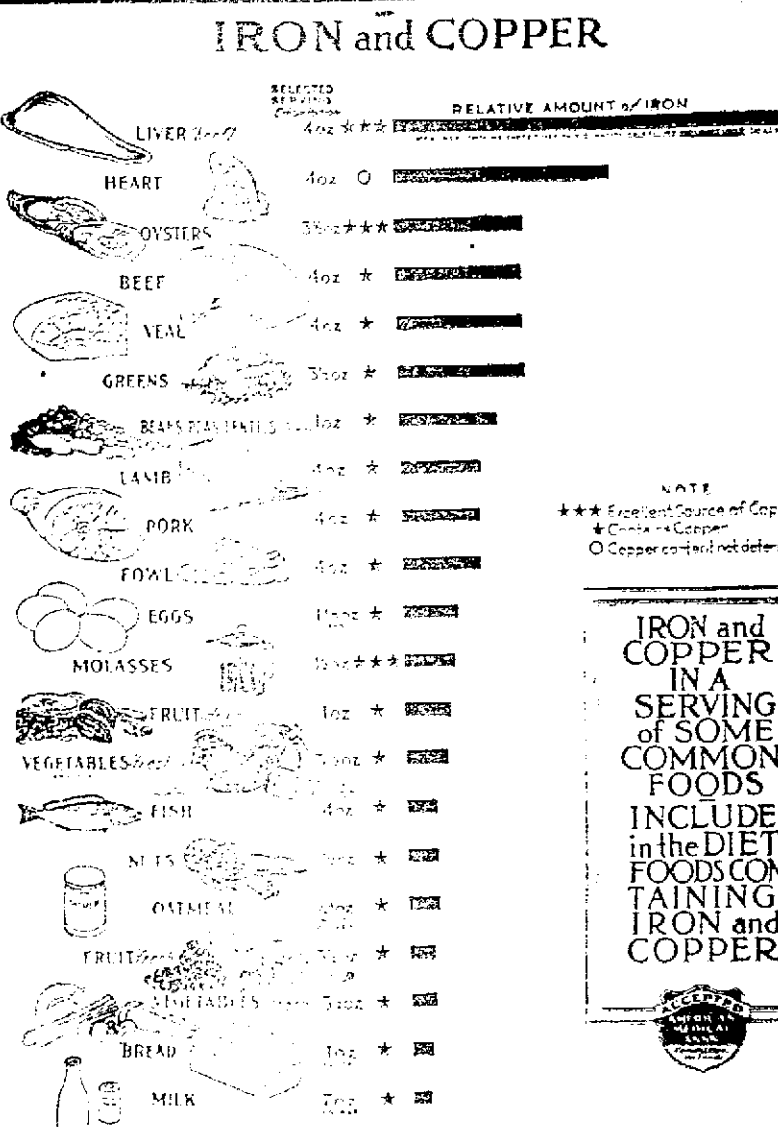

The iron in the body of an average adult is only about the weight of a penny, but this element is vital to health. Iron enters into the structure of every active body cell. Iron is a constituent of the hemoglobin or red pigment of the 25 trillion or more red blood corpuscles, and thus helps to carry oxygen to every part of the body.

Foods rich in iron must be added to the diet at six months or earlier and continued throughout life, according to nutrition authorities. The adult requires at least 12 milligrams of iron daily.

Iron Prevents Anemia
The penalty for an insufficient iron supply is a condition known as nutritional anemia, characterized by fatigue, digestive disorders and other symptoms.

As early as 400 to 500 B.C., a condition corresponding to anemia was described by Hippocrates, the Father of Medicine. Menghini, an Italian, is given credit as the first to discover iron in the blood—in 1747. The present view that an iron deficiency is the principal cause of the American Medical Association, was first advanced in 1859. In 1919, a serious form of anemia, known as pernicious anemia, was described. In the year 1921, Dr. Minot and Murphy were awarded the Nobel prize in medicine for their discovery that liver was effective in the treatment of pernicious anemia which was previously regarded as a fatal disease.

THE FELLOWSHIP OF PRAYER

Not Always

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 9. "For ye have the poor always with you; but me ye have not always." Read Matt. 26:6-13.

This passage does not belong to commentators; it belongs to poetry, to the impulse of a woman's heart, and to Jesus' loneliness. He would not be always with them—there—in personal presence and since he had asked so little for himself, they should not grudge this one perfumed testament of affection.

Strange how we take so much of what we cherish most for granted; as if it would be always there. We do not mean to refuse the tribute; we only postpone it and in today's absorption forget the warnings of time and change: "Not always." "Not always." So we leave our regard for our friends unspoken, gratitude for kindness unexpressed, the deed undone which might have made fellowship fragrant and memory a sacrament. We too often save the generous graces which might have meant so much to those we care for till it is too late. Then we open our alabaster boxes and find in them—only regret.

PRAYER: O, Lord, Who hast taught us that all our doings without love are nothing worthwhile, give us the grace now to bring our treasures of affection and gratitude to those in whose love and

Stress Good Nutrition As Defense Need

Today nutrition authorities are stressing the need for guarding the national health in carrying on an effective program of defense. In calling attention to the importance of proper food, it is pointed out that a survey has revealed that approximately 45 million of our population are living below the "safety line" of what is considered an adequate diet.

What factors are essential in our foods to assure that the diet fully meets body needs? Protein is necessary to build and repair body tissue. There must be vitamins to promote growth and protect health, and calories to supply heat and energy. Minerals, such as iron, copper, phosphorus and calcium, are needed to build blood, bones and teeth.

Importance of Iron
In considering the minerals needed, medical authorities point to the special importance of iron as a blood builder. It ranks first among the nutritive elements in this respect.

The iron in the body of an average adult is only about the weight of a penny, but this element is vital to health. Iron enters into the structure of every active body cell. Iron is a constituent of the hemoglobin or red pigment of the 25 trillion or more red blood corpuscles, and thus helps to carry oxygen to every part of the body.

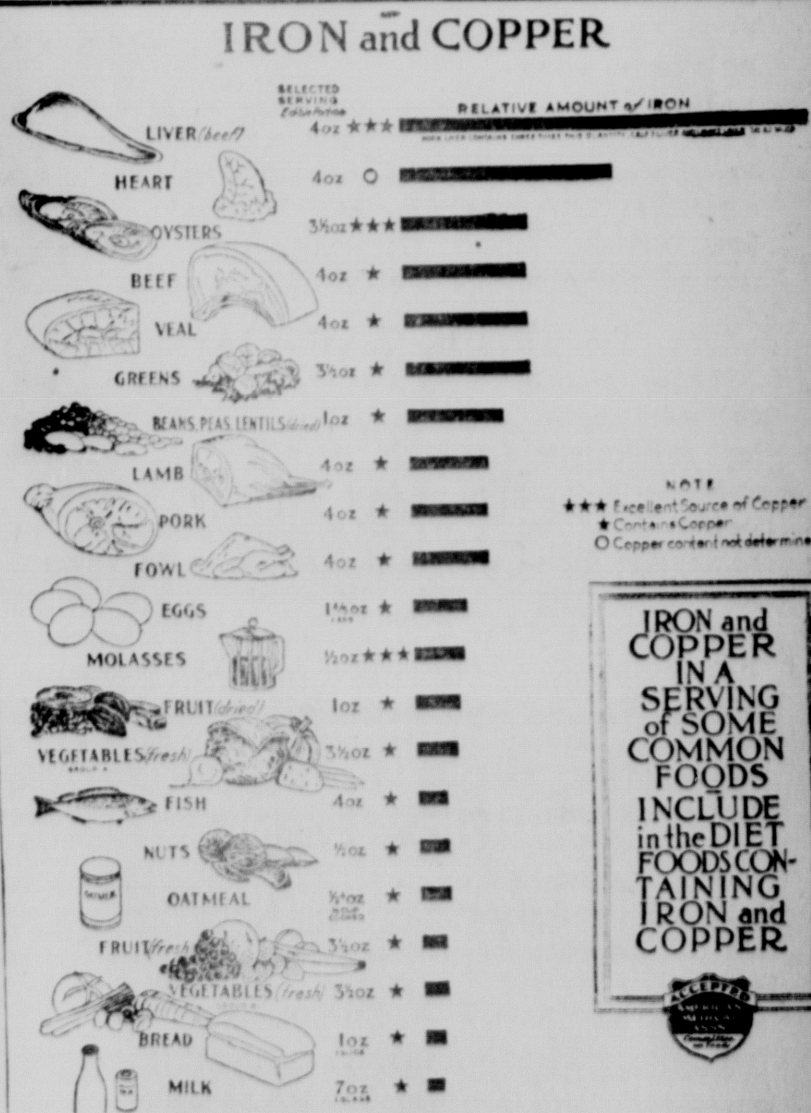

Foods rich in iron must be added to the diet at six months or earlier and continued throughout life, according to nutrition authorities. The adult requires at least 12 milligrams of iron daily.

Iron Prevents Anemia

The penalty for an insufficient iron supply is a condition known as nutritional anemia, characterized by fatigue, digestive disorders and other symptoms.

As early as 400 to 500 B.C., a condition corresponding to anemia was described by Hippocrates, the Father of Medicine. Menghini an Italian, is given credit as the first to discover iron in the blood—in 1747. The present view that an iron deficiency is the principal cause of anemia, was first advanced in 1889.

In 1849, a serious form of anemia, known as pernicious anemia, was described. In the year 1934, Drs. Minot, Murphy and Whipple were awarded the Nobel prize in medicine for their discovery that liver was effective in the treatment of pernicious anemia which was previously regarded as a fatal disease.

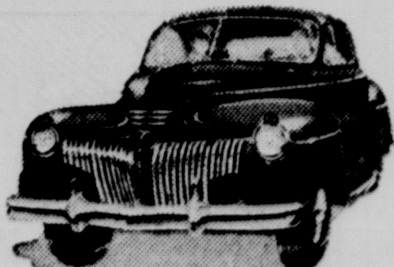

An average adult would be assured an adequate daily supply of iron if the following amounts of foods are taken each day: 2 servings of meat (1 serving of liver each week); 1 egg; 2 servings of vegetables; 2 servings of fruit.

They are caught up in a wide, rounded waistband. Dramatic color accents are lent by the huge tropical flower and leaf applique on the right trouser leg and on the left rever of the jacket.

Looks Are Deceptive

With its full, sweeping "skirt," screen actress Joan Leslie's outfit looks like an ordinary gown. But it isn't. It's a two-piece patio pajama, with tremendously wide trousers. They are caught up in a wide, rounded waistband. Dramatic color accents are lent by the huge tropical flower and leaf applique on the right trouser leg and on the left rever of the jacket.

The very first spoonful of Piso's brings soothing comfort to your irritated throat membranes. But you also get an important plus-action in this modern formula Piso's.

HANK is a great one for learning things by mail. He must have tried everything by now, from learning how to play the piano in ten easy lessons to becoming a certified public accountant. He just can't resist dropping a penny postcard in the mail.

There's one thing about it, though. Hank certainly has turned out to be a well-rounded person. He can talk shop with anybody, no matter how many trade words they toss at him, and he knows from Lesson No. 3 in the Personality course when to keep still and listen. So you might call Hank a composite of all the people who ever put down a penny-mark to indicate in which course they were interested.

Hank's trouble, if you want to call it such, was that to begin with he wanted to be a newspaperman, because one met so many interesting people. But his pa, who was a newspaperman, wanted to make something out of him. The upshot of it was that Hank, not caring any more what he did, went to work while still in his twenties as an advertising salesman.

He got the job in the first place by studying six simple lessons by mail, and was a credit to correspondence schools in general in spite of all the kidding he took about the campus and the school yells. Remember this one?

Pooh, pooh, Harvard! Pooh, pooh, Yale! We get our learning through the mail! Alma Mammy Correspondence School. Rahl! Rahl! Rahl!

And they all laughed when Hank sat down at the piano, too, but he showed 'em, just like in the ads. He could play "Roses of Picardy" without his chart, after only seven lessons and was in the midst of "Kitten On the Keys" when he got interested in a course on hotel management that took all his time.

Later, he was intrigued by courses which promised that he, too, could learn to write, and set out in spite of his pa to be a novelist. He took up typing by mail, to do the job up right, and still later sent away for a mechanical story plotter. Something may come of it yet.

The last time anybody saw Hank, he was thumbing eagerly through a magazine, half a dozen penny postcards at his elbow. And his wife was hollering at him, asking what the parley-voo she should do with his course on phonetic French. "Jo nee say pah," Hank grinned. "Hangay-voo onto 'em for a while."

HEART'S HAVEN

Ruth Rosemary Colby

YESTERDAY: Amid all sorts of mysterious and occasionally sinister incidents, Eve Prentice and Neil Bowron became engaged. Perhaps it was the fact that they, with others of Mrs. Harbury's household, had been marooned more than a week on Heart's Haven, off the Carolina coast that brought it about. Now, however, Eve sees the engagement as a mistake. What is more, she is about to slip out of the old house to meet the man she really wants to marry—and he seems not to be interested in Eve.

Chapter 26
Truth From Brett

IT WAS the last night on the island—the only night in her life, perhaps, when she would be near Brett Rodman, would hear him speak only for her, and would be able to memorize his features so that the long years ahead might not seem so lonely.

She had no intention of telling Brett that her engagement was broken. Of what use was that, when he so obviously did not care one way or the other? But Neil's presence would make it impossible to carry away a clear-cut, lovely memory.

Eve was never so glad to see Lordy Mac in one of his playful moods. He plunged at Neil, as they were entering the living room, and with what was intended to be a vicious snarl, he caught an end of Neil's shoe-lace, pulling it loose. Instantly, Ham and Neil were ready to catch him.

But he slipped away, then—dodged in again and untied Neil's other shoe. This time, both men pursued him in earnest, but Lordy skillfully ducked under first one chair and then the other, maneuvering them toward the fireplace. Eve blew him a kiss and stepped quickly onto the porch.

Brett was not there, but as she went along the path, she saw him standing by one of the ragged bushes waiting. His pipe was aglow in the gloom, and his figure bulked large against the darker shadows of the shrubbery.

"Here you are!" he said, none too graciously. And Eve, beyond a murmur of assent, could think of nothing to add. She walked meekly beside him to the shore, and turned off, as he did, to where a group of sand dunes formed a natural break against the wind.

They settled themselves slowly, but Brett, beyond the remark that it was peaceful out here, seemed to have nothing further to say. Eve waited as patiently as she could, but finally her exasperation was so great that she had to say sharply:

"Did you ask me out here just to enjoy the peaceful night? I thought you had something important to say."

His answer startled her. "So did I," he agreed. "But I guess it isn't so important after all. At least—although it's important to me, I see now that there's no sense worrying you about it."

"Worrying me?" Eve repeated. "Well, I'll certainly worry far more if I don't know what's going on. You said she had half risen from her sheltered position behind the sand dune. Now she sank back again, clasping her arms around her knees. 'I'll just sit here until you tell me all about it,' she said determinedly."

Sudden Understanding

BRETT was silent for so long that she had time to steal a glance at him from lowered eyelids. He was still drawing at his pipe, but there was no answering glow. The pipe was dead, and his eyes, half-closed, seemed to indicate that he was asleep. But Eve knew he wasn't.

He turned so suddenly she was startled, and instead of gazing out at the water, as she had intended to do, she found herself staring at the tense white blur of his face.

"This isn't new to you," he began harshly, holding the forgotten pipe in one hand. "You've heard it at Nassau and at all the smart watering places. You need an expert on really American architecture to tell you you're beautiful!" He laughed with a bitter undercurrent that seemed directed at himself.

Eve stared at him, trying to pierce the uncertain mist that the rising moon had created. She could not believe this was Brett Rodman—talking to her as if he hated it, and saying words that she had never dared hope she would hear.

"But I've been thinking it over," he went on, more calmly. "And I decided that maybe those gilded playboys like Bowron couldn't tell you anything about yourself that I know."

"You'll probably spend the rest of your life going around from one pink tea to another, never hearing a word that comes from a person who thinks. So I'll give to you straight from the shoulder. You have the makings of a grand person, Eve. I saw it when you were here. You didn't

What's New in Cooking

by Gertrude Dent

Feel Like a Cooking Spree?

WHEN the winds of blustery March beat at the window panes, there's nothing much more fun than to hunker down in our own kitchens. Something about the inclement weather outside fairly invites each of us to go on a cooking spree—to make some of the special recipes we've always promised ourselves we would make, but somehow never have.

Here are two new deep-fat fried specialties ready to put right at the top of your March cooking list. One is for big fritters, golden-crusted on the outside, hot and tender and fluffily crisp within. The other is for a very special kind of beef birds.

If you have that simplifier of cookery, a modern electric range, you'll make both of these recipes often, for the deep well cooker recessed in the top of the electric range does away with all the old-time inconveniences and fears of the deep fat frying kettle. The electric cooker is so deep, in fact, that even though it may contain several pounds of melted fat, yet there is no danger of any of it splashing or spattering out onto the range. Then, too, the fat is easily kept at the desired temperature for frying because the electric heating unit connected with the cooker provides an even heat that remains constant at whatever speed you may require. But, back to that fritter recipe. Here it is.

Golden Fry Fritters
(Makes 2 1/2 dozen)

- 1 cup ground dried figs
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 3 eggs (well-beaten)
- 1 cup sugar
- 3/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 teaspoon baking powder
- 2 pounds fat (for frying)

Place fat in deep well cooker and melt over high heat. When temperature of melted fat reaches 375° F., drop beef birds gently into it and fry until brown on the surface only (about 6 minutes). Then place birds in skillet with remainder of bacon fat, and add water, and cover. Cook on electric surface until turned to lowest position that will maintain steaming, for about 1 1/4 hours.

French-Fried Beef Birds
(Serves 6)

- 2 pounds round steak (3/4 inch thick)
- 6 slices bacon (diced)
- 1/2 cup onion (cut fine)
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 cup flour
- 2 pounds fat (for frying)
- 1 1/4 cups water

Wipe steak with damp cloth. Cut into 6 servings. Place diced bacon in skillet and sauté with chopped onion on electric surface unit. Cook over medium heat until onions are yellow and transparent, (about 8 minutes). Meanwhile, season meat with salt and pepper. Then spread the bacon-onion mixture over pieces of steak and roll them up to enclose the filling. Fasten with small skewers and roll in flour.

squawk, you didn't get scared—you were as game as they come. And you have a feeling for line and tradition—oh, I've seen the way you look back at that house, as if you knew what it meant, as if you felt the same way I do about it! You've got all this—but what do you do about it?"

"I act like a puppet of fortune," Eve supplied obligingly. "I act as if I had no mind of my own."

"Exactly!" Brett agreed with too much alacrity, Eve thought. But he gave her no time to protest.

"Oh, I don't blame you—understand that. It's probably my own sour disposition that keeps me from trying to subject you to a life of hardship."

Eve, laughing, leaned toward him. "You think I couldn't take it?" she asked.

"I know darn well you couldn't!"

But Brett's actions were at variance with his words. He looked at the face so near his own, illumined just then by the clear, cool light of a three-quarter moon that had straggled from behind the clouds.

Brett forgot that he had brought Eve here to make her realize that this was more to him than just a casual holiday. He forgot that she and Neil were engaged. He lost himself in the thought that her face was near his. And before he realized it, his arms were around her and he was kissing her with all the pent-up longing of the past few days.

Eve found after a moment that they were both standing; that Brett's arms were still closely around her, his cheek against hers. She remembered the night Neil had kissed her—it seemed so long ago!—when she had wondered if other girls noticed such mundane things as the sound of waves beating against the shore when they were being kissed.

She knew the answer now. She had not heard anything; she had felt nothing but a lightness and the warm touch of his lips on hers. She had not known when they rose or how they came to be standing, his arms around her, his lips against her throat. She could scarcely call back the surroundings, even though she looked hard at the bare stretch of beach and tried to tell away, as she might tell him what had happened between Neil and herself.

Apparitions

EVEN as she drew away, she felt that sense of dreaminess rise before her. Illumined by the newly born moon, a small hillcock down the beach seemed spotlighted as if upon a stage. And there—in keeping with her feeling of unreality—were the two sisters: Marguerite and Clementine.

They stood together, as Mrs. Jackson had said they always did, their hands clasped. Eve could see the sheen of the dark-toned satin, and the lightness of the sprigged muslin.

But now it was not Gina and herself, dressed up to surprise the others. These figures were there—ghostly—outlined by the moon. And as Eve watched, Marguerite turned toward the light-haired, fragile form, one arm upraised. Eve caught the glint of steel in the uncertain light.

Just then, as if he could not stop himself, Brett said longingly: "Eve! My darling!"

"Brett—oh, Brett!" Eve's words were a sob, but their intensity made him turn and look, as she did, along the stretch of coast. Eve needed only the tightening of his arm to tell her that he had seen the tableau before them. If he had not seen it, she might have thought her own excited imagination had created the picture. But now that Brett, too, was watching...

Eve screamed shrilly, hysterically, unable to stop the high wailing sounds that came from her throat. She was aware of Brett shaking her, slapping her lightly. But still she could not clamp her lips together as she was trying to do. Even Brett's hand, held over her mouth, could not quiet her.

Only Julie's voice, breathless from her rush across the sands, brought her back to reality.

"Eve, darling! What frightened you? Don't cry so—we're all here. What's the matter?"

Eve answered. Eve could only point down the shore, where the bright knife in Marguerite's hand was slowly descending toward the still form of the second "ghost."

The group stood, frozen, unbelieving—and yet believing. How could anybody doubt the presence of the two figures if they saw them, Eve thought. Especially if a man like Brett saw them?

For Brett might seem too deeply self-centered to notice many small things that other men noticed. But nobody could ignore him if he was in the room. And Brett saw just as surely as she did.

Golden Fig Fritters

(Makes 2½ dozen)

- 1 cup ground dried figs
- 1½ cups milk
- 3 eggs (well-beaten)
- ¼ cup sugar
- 3½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3½ teaspoons baking powder
- 2 pounds fat (for frying)

Combine figs, milk, beaten eggs and sugar and blend well. Add flour sifted with salt and baking powder and combine thoroughly. Place about 2 pounds of fat in the deep well cooker of the electric range. Turn switch to high and melt fat—their heat to 350° F.; drop the fritter batter by spoonfuls into the hot fat and fry until a golden brown, about 4 minutes. (Turn switch to lowest position which will maintain this heat while frying fritters). Turn fritters 2 or 3 times while frying to brown evenly. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve hot with lemon sauce.

French-Fried Beef Birds

(Serves 6)

- 2 pounds round steak (¾ inch thick)
- 6 slices bacon (diced)
- ½ cup onion (cut fine)
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- ½ cup flour
- 2 pounds fat (for frying)
- 1¼ cups water

Wipe steak with damp cloth. Cut into 6 servings. Place diced bacon in skillet and saute with chopped onion on electric surface unit. Cook over medium heat until onions are yellow and transparent, (about 3 minutes). Meanwhile, season meat with salt and pepper. Then spread the bacon-onion mixture over pieces of steak and roll them up to enclose the filling. Fasten with small skewers and roll in flour.

Place fat in deep well cooker and melt over high heat. When temperature of melted fat reaches 375° F., drop beef birds gently into it and fry until brown on the surface—only about 6 minutes). Then place birds in skillet with remainder of bacon fat, and add water, and cover. Cook on electric surface unit turned to lowest position that will maintain steaming, for about 1½ hours.

—A lovely, lonely girl sang the story of her love, hoping ever to reach the gay, nameless aviator, who, in a few breathless, sparkling moments had left a tiny golden charm on her wrist, and his image forever in her heart. Then, when hope of finding him had almost fled, he walked once more from out of the night into her life. And what came after makes an absorbing story...

Bigger Broilers for Better Meals

"I'D GIVE them a broiled dinner," muses the woman-who-is-planning for guests, "if only my broiler were bigger!" She has visions of lamb chops with pineapple, or sizzling steaks planked with a ruff of mashed potato. But her visions do not include a picture of herself leaving her guests to refill her broiler so that there will be enough for all.

If you are that woman, take heart! For broilers are bigger now, especially those which are a part of the modern electric range. Some of these electric broilers are large enough so that as many as 16 lamb chops can be broiled at one time! And the chops at the edges of the broiler will be every bit as juicy and well-browned as those in the center.

The next time you plan a meal for guests, consider the broiled dinner for five pictured above. The combination of broiled sausages, olives and pineapple, with rice and shredded green beans is inexpensive, but it is also amazingly effective. The sausages are made in a perkier rings by inserting a toothpick through both ends and placing an olive between them. Twenty sausages and 10 pineapple slices, together with the rice and green beans in the pan underneath, can be broiled together at one time—enough to serve 5 most generously.

The food is arranged on the broiler rack so that it bastes the vegetables in the pan underneath. The hot pineapple juice drips down over the buttered rice, the full-flavored sausage juices over the green beans. It's a trick that makes the flavor of your broiled dinner practically unbeatable! And since electric broiling takes place by radiant heat, none of the food can catch fire.

Broiled Sausage and Pineapple Dinner
(Serves 5)
1½ pounds green beans (shredded and cooked)
4 cups cooked rice (about 1½ cups, uncooked)
20 pineapple slices
10 pineapple-stuffed olives
½ cup butter (melted)

Season hot cooked green beans with 1 teaspoon of pepper, 1 teaspoon salt and 2 tablespoons melted butter; add same seasonings to rice. Place hot, cooked rice and green beans in broiler pan. Preheat broiler to a glowing cherry red. Meanwhile brush pineapple with melted butter and arrange on rack over rice. Fasten the halved olives in the center of the sausages in the following manner: Insert a toothpick through one end of the sausage, then through the center of the olive and the other end of the sausage. Arrange sausages over green beans. Place food in preheated broiler about 3 inches below unit. Leave oven door ajar. Broil for 7 minutes on one side then turn pineapple and sausages and broil on second side for 7 more minutes.

Bomber Perplexed By Chicago Gamester's Low-Crouching Style

St. Louis, April 8.—(AP)—On the basis of his showing against squat Tony Musto, Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis has a mighty rough summer ahead of him.

Musto entered the ring last night unharmed and unsung. He left it eight and a half rounds later at Referee Art Donovan's orders, bloody but unhurt except for a cut over the right eye.

The stubby Chicago Italian was the fifth straight victim fed to the champion in his stop-a-month tour and it was an unimpressive and perplexed Louis who needed almost a half hour of action to win.

Great in the past against good foes, Louis was even below the calibre he displayed two weeks ago in disposing of big Abe Simon at Detroit.

Musto's bobbing and weaving made the champion miss frequently. The Chicagoan fought in such a crouch his head was almost at a right angle with his belt buckle and he appeared as though he were busy all the while looking at his shoelaces.

Despite the time Louis consumed there never was any doubt as to the ultimate winner of the bout that lured 17,472 customers who paid a gross of $52,993.75 to attend a ceremony a majority didn't expect to go beyond the third round.

The champion, sluggish at 203½ pounds, punched Tony to the floor in the third but Referee Donovan got only to "one" before the challenger, who weighed 199½ despite the six-inch difference in height, was back in his half-crouch.

For the remainder of the frame Louis stood over him like a Missouri farmer waiting to caress a rooster's neck in preparation for Sunday dinner.

But he couldn't straighten Tony up and his right hand wasn't sharp enough to come up from below.

After the scrap Louis said the hand never had healed completely from the ruckus with Simon two weeks ago. "That Musto was a brave boy all the way," he added.

Musto's first comment after reaching his dressing room under his own power bore out Louis' statement.

"He doesn't hit any harder than any of the other fellows I've fought," said Musto.

First visitor in the challenger's dressing room was Mrs. Musto who was greeted with a pinch on the arm and "There's nothing wrong with me at all, honey."

Musto related that much of his trouble in the ninth was caused by failure to insert his mouthpiece.

In an effort to protect his lips he left the top of his face unguarded. The cut above the optic was opened in the seventh, was battered severely in the eighth, and proved his spotlight for Donovan at 1:36 of the ninth. Two stitches were required to close the cut.

His hand permitting, Louis' next stop will be a return engagement with Simon in New York in May. Then comes the probable meeting with Billy Conn of Pittsburgh in June, a possible set to in Washington in July, and Lou Nova in September. Conn witnessed Louis' victory last night.

Joe wants August for golf before turning his attention, if still champion, to Nova.

Although the championship of the circuit already had been settled, the City League wound up in a blaze of glory last night with two of the four matches being unusually thrilling.

The Smoke Shop lost three to the Darling Jewelers after a tough struggle which found the team deadlocked for total pins and the Jewelers winning in a roll-off.

After losing the first two games, the Ritchiesmen took the second by 17 and the third by five.

The Busy Bee took total pins by two to earn a split with Recreation Center.

The Warren Baking Co. took three from the Texas Lunch and the 3-G Oils and the V. F. W. split even.

Everett Hoagvall had the best match of the evening with a sweet 650 and Neil Gracner hit 236 for high game.

The Ericksons came from behind to drop the Ritchies in the Coneywango Club, taking the last game by one pin.

The match did not affect the final standings of the league.

"Mac McGrath's 325 was the highest block and Artie Langdon threw in a 202 for high game.

Tonight's match between the Millers and the Lutz team is all-important for if the Millers win and the Pettibones and Yergs split their Friday night encounter, the former will have a chance at the roll-offs.

Following is the schedule for the Friday night City League five-man event: 7:00—Smoke Shop and Recreation Center 1-2; Busy Bee and V. F. W. 3-4; 9:00—Warren Baking and Darling Jewelers 1-2; Texas Lunch and 3-G Oils, 3-4.

BEER BARREL IS TAPPED IN 7TH BY BUDDY BAER

Washington April 9.—(P)—His comeback attempt smashed by Buddy Baer's methodical jabbing and a somewhat mysterious injury to his once potent left hand, Tony Galento is just another bandaged-up heavyweight fighter today.

Tony, claiming his hand was broken, quit after six rounds of a scheduled ten-rounder with Baer last night, and Buddy, the Livermore, Calif., giant, was awarded a seventh-round technical knockout.

Dr. Marvin McLean, District of Columbia boxing commission physician, examined the badly-beaten Galento's hand in the ring. Dr. McLean refused to confirm Galento's claim of a break or serious injury and when Tony failed to appear early today for an X-ray examination at a hospital, the commission ordered the fighter's share of the purse held up.

IT AIN'T HAY! St. Louis, April 9.—(P)—Joe Louis was paid $17,468.52 for the sixteenth successful defense of his heavyweight boxing title last night.

Tony Musto, the defeated challenger, was paid 15 per cent, or $6,550.70.

Mike Jacobs, co-promoter, announced the gross receipts as $52,992.50 and the official paid attendance as 17,472. A total of $8,921.19 was paid in federal, state, city and sales taxes.

The commission announced an inquiry would be started to determine whether Galento was able to continue the fight.

Tony landed his left hand on Baer's face just before he went to his corner at the end of the sixth yelling he was hurt. One of his handlers started to remove Tony's glove, and when the bell rang for the seventh Referee Eddie Lafond awarded the fight to Baer.

The New Jersey barkeep was bleeding from the nose and numerous small cuts about the face from the third round on. In the sixth, when Baer landed a score of painful jabs and twice jarred Galento with right uppercuts, Tony looked ready to call it a night.

Left and right jabs and occasional uppercuts, not of the knock-out variety, were about all Buddy showed, but the Californian kept Galento at a distance after the second round through his 11-inch advantage in reach. Baer, a 6 foot 6 inch 240-pounder, gave away seven pounds to Galento.

About 8,500 spectators paid approximately $25,000 to see the fight.

ABC TEAMS HAIL FROM ALL OVER THE CONTINENT

St. Paul, April 9.—(P)—Not more than 20 per cent of the out of town teams entered in the current American Bowling Congress world championships in session here will qualify for slices of the $200,000 prize melon, yet they come from practically every town and hamlet to compete in the classic.

Two teams from Regina, Sask., reached the St. Paul bowling capital today, defying blizzards and rains of flood proportions in their 1,000 mile motor journey. One of the teams was piloted by Pete Gottselig, brother of Johnny Gottselig of the Chicago Blackhawks, who scored a 209 average in league competition.

"We had to use shovels and pon-tons to get here," said Gottselig, "and we would have come if we had to use a dog team."

SPORT SCATTERINGS by Bill Rice

The Sunset League prospects are pretty dim, now that it is definite that the school board intends to let its diamond go for the present. The board made a very fair offer to the league, but the officers feel that merely filling in the holes back of second base would hardly put the field in playable condition, and that the outlay of any money from a treasury which contains not a dime is out of the question. The committee made it plain that it planned to secure the dirt from the borough, but when any fill will be available from that source is not known. All of the dirt would have to be screened, and it is doubtful whether even with player-labor and free material the result would be satisfactory. What Russell Field's diamond needs is to be rebuilt. It is down to its original base; there is a drop of nearly a foot from the outfield to the infield; the base paths are so bad that attempting a slide is next to suicidal, and, all in all, it qualifies as a good third-rate gravel pit.

Were baseball a major sport in the high school, the board would, of course, be obliged to put the diamond in shape for play. But the Dragon tossers play informal tilts only, and the season is so short that baseball will soon be in the intra-mural stage. The school district's sole obligation is to the activities of the students, and any gesture it has made toward independent athletics was out of a desire to help the community's sports program within the limitations of the school code. It is up to the borough to provide whatever facilities it deems necessary, and, to date, a recreation center has not been on the program. But then, this is probably where you came in. It is encouraging to learn that some of the more progressive members of the borough's governing body are in favor of a combined athletic field, swimming pool, ice rink, tennis courts, etc., to be built on a long-time basis, and before long the project will probably be up for discussion once more.

You said it!... Del Bissonette, former Brooklyn Dodger first baseman, has signed to manage the Bradford Bees in the Pony League. He is the fourth Bradford skipper in two years. And Del had better produce a pennant winner!... Johnny Nelson quotes Fred Paige as saying his 1941 Owl gym team was the best he ever produced. In triangular meets, Warren's state champs defeated the Owls 86 to 37 and 65 to 28. In the regional meet the Dragons ran up 55 points and Bradford got none. Looks like Johnny Pollock, former Smethport and Warren catcher, will do most of the receiving for Jamestown this summer. ... Al Babcock offers a free haircut to any of his bowling team who hits 600 or better, and the latest to turn the trick was Steve Trill. ... Some prize!... You'll get a nice evening's entertainment if you attend the Y. M. C. A. Gymkhana next Thursday and Friday. ... Writers' polls conducted by "Look" and "Liberty" show Cincinnati and New York the popular favorites in the National and American leagues, with Brooklyn and Cleveland runners-up. ... Penn State alumni may be a little unhappy next fall. ... Bob Higgins reminded your agent last Saturday that he lost ten men out of his starting lineup. ... Warren fans are used to that situation, however. ... Coach Leidig loses every one of his starters.

YEARS AGO IN SPORT April 9, 1921—The Nameless Five played well the first half, but pored out in the last two periods and lost a hard battle to Kane last night at the "Y" court, 30-22. Conroy, Pedlow and Keller each scored a pair of field goals and Nick Wendelboe one. Nicholas was high for Kane with four baskets.

April 9, 1931—The Barrette Cleaners took the second game and the Industrial Basketball League title last night by defeating the Warren Tank Car, 34-25. Pedlow was high for the losers and Pat Reiley and Hultman starred for the new champions.

By EDDIE BRIETZ New York, April 9.—(The Special News Service)—Well, it's just a week until the major league season opens, so let's get down to business and see what's going on. ... Bill Terry finally decided Harry (The Horse) Danning was not an outfielder (which anyone could have told him after watching Hank misjudge flies). ... But Bill still thinks so much of Danning as a catcher that he won't talk trade unless he's given his choice of any three players from the other club. ... Joe McCarthy's troubles with the Yanks are different. ... He has 14 good pitchers in camp, and he can't give them all enough work to decide which ones he will drop. ... Ted Williams made up with the Boston sport scribes just before he busted his ankle, but the chances are they'll be at odds again before Ted returns to the lineup. ... Although the championship of the circuit already had been settled, the City League wound up in a blaze of glory last night with two of the best matches being unusually thrilling. The Smoke Shop lost three to the Darling Jewelers after a tough struggle which found the team deadlocked for total pins and the Jewelers winning in a roll-off. After losing the first two games, the Ritchiesmen took the second by 17 and the third by five. The Busy Bee took total pins by two to earn a split with Recreation Center. The Warren Baking Co. took three from the Texas Lunch and the 3-G Oils and the V. F. W. split even. Everett Hoagvall had the best match of the evening with a sweet 660 and Neil Graebner hit 236 for high game.

The Ericksons came from behind to drop the Ritchies in the Conewango Club, taking the last game by one pin. The match did not affect the final standings of the loop. "Mac" McGrath's 525 was the highest block and Artie Langdon threw in a 202 for high game. Tonight's match between the Millers and the Lutz team is all-important for if the Millers win and the Pettibones and Yergs split their Friday night encounter, the former will have a chance at the roll-offs.

Following is the schedule for the Friday night City League five-man event: 7:00—Smoke Shop and Recreation Center 1-2; Busy Bee and V. F. W. 3-4; 9:00—Warren Baking and Darling Jewelers 1-2; Texas Lunch and 3-G Oils, 3-4.

BEER BARREL IS TAPPED IN 7TH BY BUDDY BAER

Washington April 9.—(P)—His comeback attempt smashed by Buddy Baer's methodical jabbing and a somewhat mysterious injury to his once potent left hand, Tony Galento is just another bandaged-up heavyweight fighter today. Tony, claiming his hand was broken, quit after six rounds of a scheduled ten-rounder with Baer last night, and Buddy, the Livermore, Calif., giant, was awarded a seventh-round technical knockout. Dr. Marvin McLean, District of Columbia boxing commission physician, examined the badly-beaten Galento's hand in the ring. Dr. McLean refused to confirm Galento's claim of a break or serious injury and when Tony failed to appear early today for an X-ray examination at a hospital, the commission ordered the fighter's share of the purse held up. IT AIN'T HAY! St. Louis, April 9.—(P)—Joe Louis was paid $17,468.52 for the sixteenth successful defense of his heavyweight boxing title last night. Tony Musto, the defeated challenger, was paid 15 per cent, or $6,550.70. Mike Jacobs, co-promoter, announced gross receipts as $52,592.50 and the official paid attendance as 17,472. A total of $8,921.19 was paid in federal, state, city and sales taxes. The commission announced an inquiry would be started to determine whether Galento was able to continue the fight. Tony landed his left hand on Baer's face just before he went to his corner at the end of the sixth, yelling he was hurt. One of his handlers started to remove Tony's glove, and when the bell rang for the seventh Referee Eddie Lafond awarded the fight to Baer. The New Jersey barkeep was bleeding from the nose and numerous small cuts about the face from the third round on. In the sixth, when Baer landed a score of painful jabs and twice jarred Galento with right uppercuts, Tony looked ready to call it a night. Left and right jabs and occasional uppercuts, not of the knock-out variety, were about all Buddy showed, but the Californian kept Galento at a distance after the second round through his 11-inch advantage in reach. Baer, a 6 foot 6 inch 240-pounder, gave away seven pounds to Galento. About 8,500 spectators paid approximately $25,000 to see the fight. gram yesterday failed to produce a change in the minor event leaders. Thursday's program will feature Mort Lindsey, Stamford, Conn., one of the game's all-time great, while Friday will find the Chicago Monarchs, 1940 champions, attempting to defend their title.

ABC TEAMS HAIL FROM ALL OVER THE CONTINENT

St. Paul, April 9.—(P)—Not more than 30 per cent of the out of town teams entered in the current American Bowling Congress world championships in session here will qualify for slices of the $200,000 prize melon, yet they come from practically every town and hamlet to compete in the classic. Two teams from Regina, Sask., reached the St. Paul bowling capital today, defying blizzards and rains of flood proportions in their 1,000 mile motor journey. One of the teams was piloted by Pete Gottselig, brother of Johnny Gottselig of the Chicago Blackhaws, who scored a 209 average in league competition. "We had to use shovels and pon-tons to get here," said Gottselig, "and we would have come if we had to use a dog team." Team leaders remained unchanged after last night's competition, while the doubles and singles pro-

SPORT SCATTERINGS

The Sunset League prospects are pretty dim, now that it is definite that the school board intends to let its diamond go for the present. The board made a very fair offer to the league, but the officers feel that merely filling in the holes back of second base would hardly put the field in playable condition, and that the outlay of any money from a treasury which contains not a dime is out of the question. The committee made it plain that it planned to secure the dirt from the borough, but when any fill will be available from that source is not known. All of the dirt would have to be screened, and it is doubtful whether even with player-labor and free material the result would be satisfactory. What Russell Field's diamond needs is to be rebuilt. It is down to its original base; there is a drop of nearly a foot from the outfield to the infield; the base paths are so bad that attempting a slide is next to suicidal, and, all in all, it qualifies as a good third-rate gravel pit. Were baseball a major sport in the high school, the board would, of course, be obliged to put the diamond in shape for play. But the Dragon tossers play informal tilts only, and the season is so short that baseball will soon be in the intra-mural stage. The school district's sole obligation is to the activities of the students, and any gesture it has made toward independent athletics was out of a desire to help the community's sports program within the limitations of the school code. It is up to the borough to provide whatever facilities it deems necessary, and to date, a recreation center has not been on the program. But then, this is probably where you came in. It is encouraging a couple that some of the more progressive members of the borough's governing body are in favor of a combined athletic field, swimming pool, ice rink, tennis courts, etc., to be built on a long-time basis, and before long the project will probably be up for discussion once more. You said it!... Del Bissonette, former Brooklyn Dodger first baseman, has signed to manage the Bradford Bees in the Pony League... He is the fourth Bradford skipper in two years... And Del had better produce a pennant winner!... Johnny Nelson quotes Fred Paige as saying his 1941 Owl gym team was the best he ever produced... In triangular meets, Warren's state champs defeated the Owls 85 to 17 and 66 to 28... In the regional meet the Dragons ran up 55 points and Bradford got nine... Looks like Johnny Pollock, former Smithport and Warren catcher, will do most of the receiving for Jamestown this summer... Al Babcock offers a free haircut to any of his bowling team who hits 600 or better, and the latest to turn the trick was Steve Tritt... Some prize!... You'll get a nice evening's entertainment if you attend the Y. M. C. A. Gymkhana next Thursday and Friday... Writers' polls conducted by "Look" and "Liberty" show Cincinnati and New York the popular favorites in the National and American leagues, with Brooklyn and Cleveland runners-up... Sam Taub pulled a couple of his best broties the other evening, such as "Baer has a swelling under Nova's right eye" and "the boys are backing each other into a neutral corner"... Penn State alumni may be a little unhappy next fall... Bob Higgins reminded your agent last Saturday that he lost ten men out of his starting lineup... Warren fans are used to that situation, however... Coach Leidig loses every one of his starters.

Today's Guest Star Zipp Newman, Birmingham News: "Fans hereabouts thought Joe E. Brown's idea of a national Connie Mack day was a swell one... Now if the Athletics would catch the spirit and make it Connie Mack year, it would suit lots more fans."

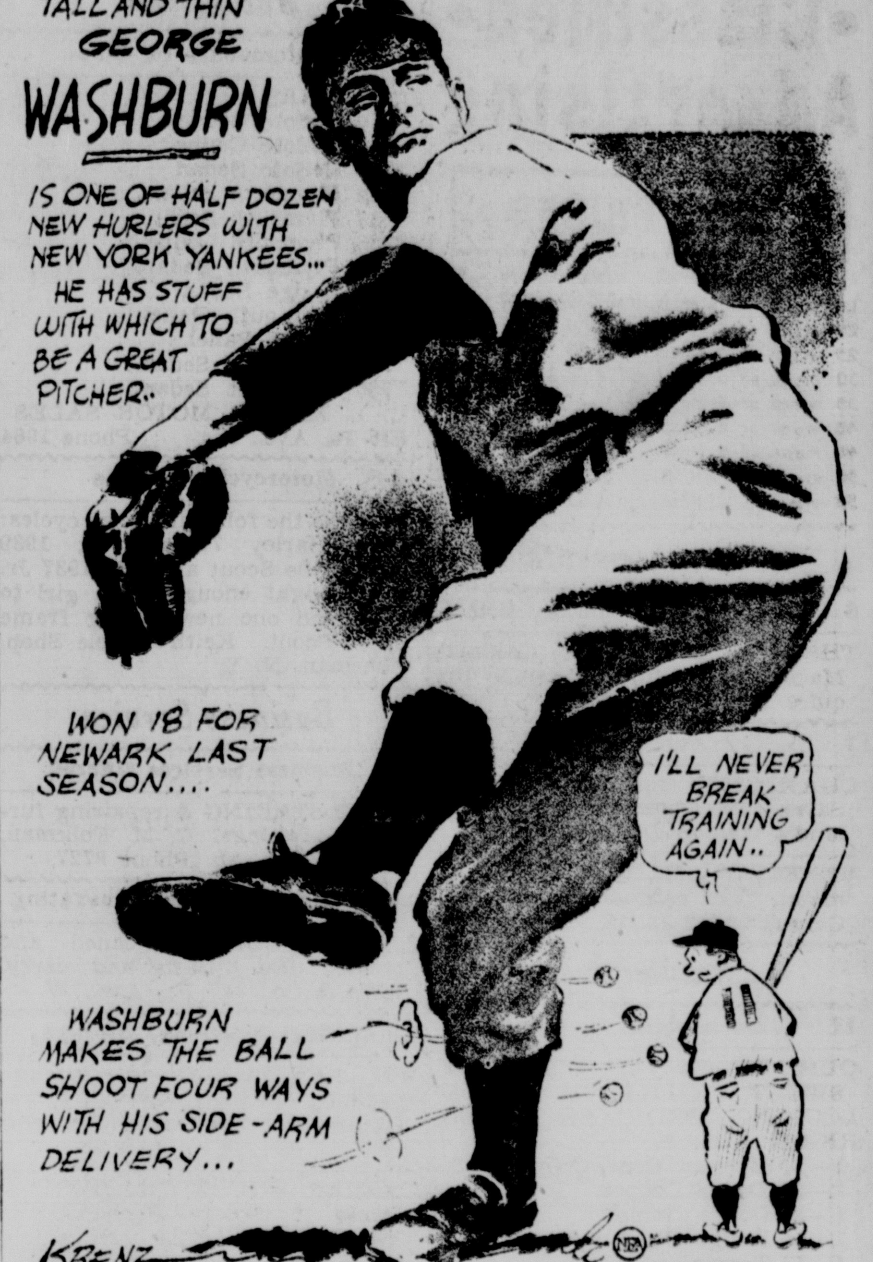

HONOR HURRY-UP AT PITTSBURGH BANQUET

Sports Round-up

By EDDIE BRIETZ New York, April 9.—(The Special News Service)—Well, it's just a week until the major league season opens, so let's get down to business and see what's going on... Bill Terry finally decided Harry (The Horse) Danning wasn't an outfielder (which anyone could have told him after watching Hank misjudge flies)... But Bill still thinks so much of Danning as a catcher that he won't talk trade unless he's given his choice of any three players from the other club... Joe McCarthy's troubles with the Yankees are different... He has 14 good pitchers in camp, and he can't give them all enough work to decide which ones he will drop... Ted Williams made up with the Boston sport scribes just before he busted his ankle, but the chances are they'll be at odds again before Ted returns to the lineup... Pepper Martin, who is 37 years old and just as lively as ever, is rated the second fastest man on the Sacramento Coast League club, which he manages.

$154,000,000 Relief Bill Is Plan of Demos

(From Page One)

The House has before it the latest emergency relief appropriation bill of $6,300,000 asked by the administration to tide grants over through May to the end of the two-year fiscal period.

After May 31, the new biennial appropriation, which must pass through both House and Senate, becomes available.

The one positive act toward passage of a bill during yesterday's long and heated session was the Senate's approval of the Walker-Cavalcante measure aimed at barring the Communist party from the ballot. It was sent to the House with Senator Dent as the only dissenting vote.

The Senate spent eight and one-half hours arguing about tax abatement, unemployment compensation, workmen's compensation and the Communist bill.

Over Score Arrested for Failure to Have Licenses for Canines

A wholesale roundup of owners of unlicensed dogs is under way here, with at least 25 arrests made today and arraignments to be made today and tomorrow before Justice of the Peace Tracy M. Greenlund.

Information is being made by four investigators from the department of agriculture, headed by Paul A. Dundon, of Edinboro, enforcement officer for Warren and Erie counties.

Others in the group are R. S. Ames, of Townville, whose territory is all of Crawford county; Ray Shaw, of Endeavor, agent for Clarion, Forest, Jefferson and Venango counties; O. A. Perschka, of Mercer, officer for Mercer county.

Mr. Dundon issued a final warning today to owners to go to the court house and secure their permits immediately, since other arrests will follow if necessary. He stated that Warren county has been particularly lax in this matter, and legal action has become necessary.

throughout Monday and retired early that evening. At 6:30 Tuesday morning, Hogenbommer arose, spoke briefly to his wife, then walked across the room to a window where he picked up the .22 caliber rifle. Returning to the bed, he shot the woman through the head.

The farmer left the farmhouse and later returned from Sunbury with a cousin, Walter Cobb. The two men reported finding the body and state police and Coroner Sidney Kallaway were summoned.

Kallaway, after a preliminary investigation, was prepared to certify the woman's death as a suicide by shooting when state police investigators pointed to the absence of powder burns around the wound. Hogenbommer was taken into custody then and questioned throughout last night.

Chief Seaport Of Eritrea In British Hands

able British source said word was received today that British forces had captured Massaua, Eritrea's port on the Red sea, completing the conquest of that Italian East African colony.

For days "Free French" and British empire forces had been in contact with the outer defenses of Massaua.

One report pictured them merely as waiting for the Italians to surrender, but at the same time it was supposed that the garrison was sabotaging harbor works and shipping, faced in the Red sea by a British naval force.

Now, except for mopping up, the Eritrea campaign is complete, the London informant said.

The latest British success also was regarded in London as likely to remove the last American objections to sending merchant ships directly into the Red sea to aid Britain in the Mediterranean zone.

a member of the senate commerce, irrigation and reclamation and manufactures committees.

Sheppard, a Democrat, completed 38 years' service in congress last October 11. He was elected to the house in 1902 to succeed his father, who died during his third term, and entered the senate January 29, 1913. Senator Ellison D. (Cotton Ed) Smith of South Carolina, first elected in 1908, ranks as dean of the senate, but he had no prior service in the house.

Dr. Calver said the veteran Texas legislator had "shown the effects of overwork and strain for several weeks," but "his devotion to duty and his sense of responsibility kept him at work in spite of the advice of his friends and physician to take a rest."

Surviving are his widow and three married daughters, Mrs. Richard Arnold of Texasarkana, Tex.; Mrs. Connie Mack, Jr., of Philadelphia; and Mrs. Arthur Keyes, Jr., of Rutland, Vt. Keyes is a Harvard student.

Less than two weeks ago Mrs. Keyes, the former Lucile Sheppard, was married in the family home here. Senator and Mrs. Sheppard received a large number of friends, including many members of the senate.

peace is avoidable," Wallace said. "We will help ourselves through helping England by all methods short of war. Britain will win."

The president reported that the government had actually spent $1,800,000,000 for construction and acquisition of materials in the first three months of 1941 as against $1,400,000,000 in the last half of 1940.

to the rout in Flanders, the withdrawal from Dunkerque and the fall of France a month later.

Cut off from Western Greece, hard-fighting Greek garrisons of the Struma valley forts were reported still holding out grimly.

Retaking a fort, capturing Nazi paratroopers and smashing repeated German tank assaults.

To the northeast, Premier Mussolini's High Command reported that Fascist troops had entered the town of Kranj, Yugoslavia, 10 miles from the Italian border, and that Italian armies in northern Albania had launched an offensive into Yugoslavia to meet Nazi Panzer divisions driving through from Bulgaria.

A Yugoslavia communique said that Slav troops, after abandoning Skopje to the Germans, were now fighting bitterly in the mountains northwest of the town to prevent the invaders from cutting Yugoslavia in two.

Hitler's High Command acknowledged that the "break through" Greece's Metaxas line—a modern fortifications system built by the late Premier Gen. John Metaxas—had been effected only "after an embittered struggle."

The German High Command said Nazi Field Marshal List's fast troops striking from Bulgaria had advanced more than 60 miles into Yugoslavia, crossing the Vardar river, and "thus Yugoslavia and Greek-English forces have been separated."

In Africa, the British were reported to have captured Massaua, big Red Sea port, completing the conquest of Italian Eritrea.

In the air war of the west the Luftwaffe concentrated a new night attack on the industrial town of Coventry, which was subjected to a terrific bombing of last November, and Britain's Royal Air Force battered the German naval base at Kiel for the second successive night. The British said the naval base was "heavily and successfully" bombed in undergoing its 37th raid of the war.

Situation In Detroit Brighter

The pace of settlement negotiations was speeded yesterday after Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, came to Detroit and was escorted by the governor and James F. Dewey, ace conciliator of the Department of Labor, to a meeting with Harry H. Bennett, Ford personnel director, and other company officials.

In New York, John R. Steelman, director of the United States conciliation service, declared there was a "substantial agreement" on a new soft coal mining contract, but that "desperate" efforts were being made to obtain an industry-wide accord.

Negotiations toward a new hard coal contract began, with Pennsylvania operators offering only slight modifications of the present agreement. CIO union leaders asked a $1 a day general wage increase, paid vacations and overtime pay concessions.

"One person plus God," he said, "can bring victory and success."

The fourth and final service in the series will be held tomorrow noon when the Rev. I. K. Dietsche, pastor of the Emanuel Reformed church, will speak on "The Day of Fellowship."

Today's service was attended by nearly forty members of the Warren Kiwanis Club who went to the Carver Hotel for the weekly luncheon following the service.

"There are many signs that point to a Nazi attempt to secure the granaries of the Ukraine, and the oil fields of the Caucasus."

He pictured this attempt as part of the drive to amass tremendous resources for war to the death against the English speaking world.

Then he dropped his hands from the dispatch box again and half turned, facing United States Ambassador John G. Winant and two other key men in the United States aid to Britain—W. Averell Harriman and Dr. James B. Conant—also in the diplomatic gallery.

Churchill asserted jovially that "the Duke of Aosta's army is retreating into the mountains where it is being attended to by the patriot forces of Ethiopia," then triumphantly predicted the "complete destruction and capture of all Italian forces in Ethiopia."

FORMER HEAD IS GUEST OF LOCAL RELIEF GROUP

Mrs. Robert Hall, of Philadelphia, president of the Warren Relief Association for many years, was a guest at the monthly meeting of board members, held Tuesday morning at the Y. W. C. A. activities building.

Mrs. J. L. Connolly, who has recently assumed the duties of official hostess for the borough, was also a guest of the board.

Members were greatly encouraged with the report given by Mrs. William Howat, Jr. and Mrs. Robert Iredell for the association's milk fund. It was shown that collections from the milk fund bottles since the middle of January have totaled $45. In addition, three checks were received by the secretary for application to this fund. Appreciation of the board was expressed for this cooperation on the part of the public.

The report for the association's rooms on Liberty street showed 114 clients assisted in the past month, with distribution of 62 pairs of shoes and 582 pieces of clothing. Besides these, 31 articles of clothing were given to 50 transients.

This very important phase of the Relief Association's work is dependent to a large extent upon the gifts of used clothing given by friends and board members. Members were asked to remind their friends that supplies are low after the cold winter and more donations are desired.

It was pointed out that with the time of housecleaning at hand, many persons will have articles for which they have no further wish and if they will call the Warren Relief Association, 2491, the articles will be called for.

There is a great need for all kinds of articles with special emphasis on shoes for all ages.

At the close of the meeting, members and guests enjoyed a luncheon and visited the newly renovated headquarters rooms.

Contract bridge plays an important part in the social activities at Annapolis. While the midshipmen are kept pretty busy right now with intense training, nevertheless they do find time to participate in an occasional duplicate game and the bridge at the Naval Academy is of a very fine caliber.

I recall in 1937 the late Lt. Comdr. C. W. Humphreys and Lt. E. A. Cook, retired, won the national amateur championship at Washington. In rummaging through the hands from the Washington tournament, I found this interesting game.

I noticed that game had been made in no trump by both sides. At the table where the hand was bid as shown West opened the ace of clubs, evidently believing that East could not get in the lead anyhow. East correctly played the jack and West continued with queen.

Declarer then proceeded to make a small slam. He picked up West's king of hearts and later guessed the diamond finesse right, winning the tricks in the two suits. At the end West held his ace of spades and South won the last trick with the eight of clubs.

At another table, West got into three no trump, doubled. North opened the queen of hearts. West won it, cashed four spades, then picked up the club king to cash five clubs. Thus he won ten tricks. Quite a swing on one board!

East cashed three more spade tricks, but that was all for the defense. West had to blank his king of diamonds to hold the king of hearts, and declarer guessed the situation when East excited with the nine of diamonds.

has gone up, too, and there is no haggling about prices. Business men coming to make deals with the government, finding they can't get to see their man, kill time by riding the rubberneck wagons. There are eight different tours to be made, each of which will take a morning or an afternoon, or if you are a glutton at this sightseeing you can crowd them all in a couple of days.

While the White House, Capitol, tomb of the Unknown Soldier and Bureau of Printing and Engraving, where they print money and stamps, are still the big attractions, a new tour that has become known as the schoolmarm's special has recently been giving the old attraction a run for popularity. It takes in the Supreme Court, the Folger Shakespearean Library, the Archives building, the new Mellon National Gallery of Art and, for a kicker the G-man show in the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

As for the cherry blossoms, you can get an eyeful from a car or a tourist's bus, but the traffic jams are thick and you see more by hiking. It's two miles around the tidal basin, but as construction of the new Thomas Jefferson Memorial has made a half mile of this rather unattractive for this year, the walk can be shortened unless you want to take in the two miles of never double blossom trees beyond the tourist camp in East Potomac Park.

The big mystery of this year's festival is whether or not the new Japanese ambassador, Admiral Nomura can be lured out for the show. The late Ambassador Saito's family used to come in in limos for pictures, but that was cut out.

has gone up, too, and there is no haggling about prices. Business men coming to make deals with the government, finding they can't get to see their man. Kill time by riding the rubberneck wagons. There are eight different tours to be made, each of which will take a morning or an afternoon, or if you are a glutton at this sightseeing you can crowd them all in a couple of days.

While the White House, Capitol, tomb of the Unknown Soldier and Bureau of Printing and Engraving, where they print money and stamps, are still the big attractions, a new tour that has become known as the schoolmarm's special has recently been giving the old attraction a run for popularity. It takes in the Supreme Court, the Folger Shakespearean Library, the Archives building, the new Mellon National Gallery of Art and, for a kicker the G-man show in the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Nomura can be lured out for the walk can be shortened unless you want to take in the two miles of never double blossom trees beyond the tourist camp in East Potomac Park.
